"It's Not About Us, It's About Them"

28 year Executive Director Patti West speaks with Bob Meinecke after the meeting about Fifth Street Ministries

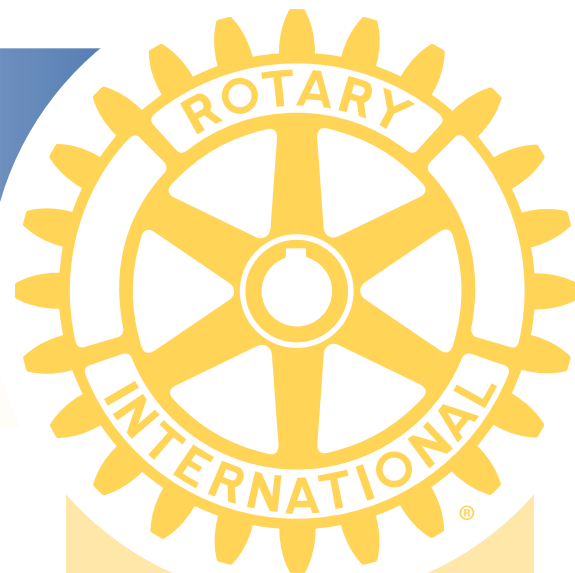

Founder and Executive Director of Fifth Street Ministries, Patti West, spoke to Rotary about the coming together of programs and how working under one administrative umbrella helped serve the community in a much better and more efficient way.

Diakonos, Inc. was organized in Burnsville, NC in 1988, to help homeless and impoverished individuals. In 1990 the organization moved to Statesville, NC to operate an emergency shelter, winter shelter and domestic violence shelter. As the programs developed and changed to meet the needs of people needing assistance the services grew to fall under one umbrella.

Patti West spoke about building a strategic plan for social and emotional support for our community. The well attended meeting brought many questions toward the end of the meeting about Diakonos. To learn more you can visit www.fifthstreetministries.com

Her overall message was to leave your ego at the door, listen, be willing to give and take and have the face of the person you are serving in front of you and how you can best address their needs. Patti ended her lecture with what she felt is the key to serving, "It's not about us, it's about them."

*Diakonos: (noun) 1. Greek word meaning "one who serves."
Word from which "deacon" is derived.
2. Corporate name of Fifth Street Ministries*

Rotary Recap

Angela Mayfield Granite Bears Coach

Mount Airy coach Angela Mayfield led the Granite Bears to the NCHSAA Class 1-A girls' basketball championship game in her first season as the head coach. Coach Mayfield had been the assistant coach for 8 years and this was her first year as head coach.

Coach Mayfield shared with the club the things they overcame as a team and improved on to help them capture the championship.

Team work was the most challenging for the Lady Bears, but as the season continued the girls came to understand what playing for each other was about. This along with small changes the team corrected as they practiced each day made them a better team all around.

Congratulations to the Granite Bears Girls Basketball team for an outstanding season!

Kelley Steele

Children's Author Promotes Reading

D. Kelley Steele, an author of children's books who lives in Statesville, NC spoke to the Rotary Club about the importance of supporting young readers and helping a child to know they have someone who believes in them.

Growing up in Cleveland, N.C., Kelley developed a love for storytelling by listening to the older men and women who frequented her great-grandfather's general store. Kelley learned early on that every life is an adventure and a story worth telling.

Kelley donated books to the local schools in our area and commended our club for the ongoing Literacy Project we are involved in.

Kelley received a Masters degree in Communication Disorders and her Doctorate is Educational Leadership. She is currently a speech pathologist for the VA in Salisbury, NC. Her books are available on Amazon.

Matt Edwards

Gives Rotary A Behind the Scenes Tour of The Museum of Regional History

Matt Edwards, Director of The Mount Airy Museum of Regional History, took members of the Rotary Noon Club behind the scenes to see the places in the museum that are off limits to the public.

Members were treated to a viewing of the peddle car exhibit just before it left the building to make room for the WWI exhibit. Matt gave everyone an overview of how the exhibit displays are moved and shipped in order to be shown in other museums.

The club was also shown the newly renovated Fire Department exhibit in the basement and given a sneak preview into "The Cave".

The Mount Airy Museum of Regional History is a great asset to the town and should be on everyone's list as a must see visit when downtown. There are on going programs to be involved with so if you aren't a member think about becoming one. You will be glad you did.
